

Dwayne Campbell, CPA

Campbell, Shaffer & Company, P.C.

Dwayne Campbell is a shareholder in Campbell, Shaffer & Company, P.C., Enid, Oklahoma. The firm retains membership in the Private Companies Practice Section of the American Institute of CPA's. The firm serves cooperative clients in Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas and Missouri.

Dwayne graduated from Phillips University, Enid, Oklahoma, in May of 1974. In June 1974, he started working with cooperatives as an auditor in the public accounting department of Farmland Industries, Inc., Kansas City. Later he transferred to Mankato, Minnesota, with Farmland Service Company. While with Farmland, he performed services for cooperatives in Missouri, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Kansas, Texas, Michigan, and Kentucky. Returning to Enid in 1979 to work for a Public Accounting firm providing services to cooperatives, he soon became a partner. Blubaugh & Campbell CPA's, Inc. was founded July 1, 1983. Blubaugh & Campbell CPA's, Inc. merged with Collins, Butler & Co., P.C. January 1, 1998. October 1, 2004 Dwayne formed his current firm of Campbell, Shaffer & Company, P.C.

Dwayne is a member of the AICPA and the National Society of Accountants for Cooperatives (NSAC), having been President and Treasurer of the Mid-West Chapter of NSAC. He has been a National Director from the Mid-West Chapter of NSAC, and also served as the chairman of the Small Cooperative Committee and is a member of the Auditing and Accounting Committee, Education Committee, and Tax Committee of the NSAC.

He and his wife, Nancy, have two children, Andy and Laura. As a family, they enjoy golf, tennis (playing & officiating), and high adventure trips.